

INTRODUCING: GITLER AND GALLERY ON BROADWAY

Wednesday, September 24, 2014

Bespoke tips have been coming in confirming that an art gallery has opened just across the street from Harlem Public so we took a walk on the block a couple of days ago. Gitler And Gallery does appear to be in business now just north of 149th Street on the west side of Broadway. This part of the Broadway corridor seems to be attracting more new business because of establishments like At The Wallace or Chipped Cup but we never expected a gallery to appear. For those who want more details, there is also a website that has been established: LINK

introducing-gitler-and-gallery-on.html